The history of the Philippines between 900 and 1565, also known as the pre-colonial period or pre-Hispanic, begins with the creation of the Laguna Copperplate Inscription in 900 and ends with the Spanish colonization in 1565. The LCI is the first written document found in an ancient Philippine language. The inscription itself identifies the date of its creation, and its deciphering in 1992 made it possible to put the end of prehistorical Philippines around 900 AD. Prior to the LCI, the earliest
